

Speaking Programs

Creating Life's Design

Who should attend: New Employees or Students

This course is designed to push students to take risks and develop personal confidence that leads to professional success. The program is structured to empower students to overcome the world's number one fear - public speaking and build life skills that enhance communication and individual interaction.

Participants will learn:

- Learn the #1 predictor of a successful presentation and success in life.
- Develop conversation skills that demonstrate confidence in themselves and their forte.
- Increase their communications skills including conflict resolution.
- Build their risk-taking ability so that they feel empowered to accomplish new goals that will lead to career success.
- Learn techniques that demonstrate a positive first impression for interviewing and life.
- Develop the techniques that build a powerful presenter including body language, voice, and words.
- Learn 3 techniques that ease stress and make a powerful presenter.

Interviewing for Success

Who should attend: Adults or Students

There is no certification for this program.

It's time to get heard and “get the job!” Today's economic environment warrants a survivor mentality. We need to be recognized as the “pro” versus the “amateur.” This seminar provides the A-Z's of interviewing, “From walk ing in the front door to asking the right questions.” Participants develop confidence and a road map for a successful interview that increases the value in themselves and puts them one step ahead of the competition.

Participants will learn:

- To establish a career vision.
- To identify professional image standards from dress to clarity in our words.
- To identify 8 key areas that will get us to that vision.
- Questioning techniques that say confidence and skillfulness.
- To Develop a formula to successfully respond to questions.
- 10 interview killers.
- The importance of asking questions and what to ask.
- The 5 critical steps in exiting an interview.